Designated School Safeguarding Officers

Designated Safeguarding Team: MRS EBELE NWUDE-NDIGWE, MR UZOUCHUKWU IBEABUCHI, MS CECILIA BASSEY

Designated Safeguarding Lead is: MR CHINEDU NWEKE

Governor of Safeguarding Policy: MR CHIEDOZIE DIKE

1. Introduction

British Spring College recognises her duty and responsibilities to promote the protection, welfare and safeguarding interests of all students. The school recognises that effective student protection requires sound procedures, good inter-agency co-operation and a workforce that is competent and confident in responding to student protection situations.

British Spring College is a listening school where the child's voice is heard and all students are encouraged to be open about their concerns and doubts.

This document provides the basis for good practice within the school for safeguarding students to enable every student to be healthy and stay safe. It also seeks to make the professional responsibilities clear to all staff to ensure that statutory and other duties are met in accordance with legal requirements and procedures in our country.

(See also the school's Safer Recruitment Policy)

2. Underpinning values

British Spring College, Awka is committed to the following:

All students' welfare is paramount. Each student has a right to be protected from harm and exploitation; and to have their welfare safeguarded, with the school providing a safe environment in which students can learn.

Each student is unique. Action taken by student welfare organisations should be student-centred, taking into account of student's cultural, ethnic and religious backgrounds, their gender, their individual abilities and any special needs, including medical needs (such as in cases of FGM – female genital mutilation). It is imperative that students receive the right help at the right time to address risks and prevent issues from escalating.

Key Points:

- Students, parents and other carers should be aware of their responsibilities and their rights, together with advice about the power of professionals to intervene in their family circumstances.
- Each student has a right to be consulted about actions taken by others on his/her behalf. The concerns of students and their families should be listened to and due consideration given to their understanding, wishes and feelings.
- Individual family members must be involved in decisions affecting them. They must be treated with courtesy and respect and with due regard given to working with them in a spirit of partnership in safeguarding students' welfare
- Open-mindedness and honesty must guide each stage of assessment and of operational practice. The strengths of individual family members, as well as their needs, should be given due consideration.
- Personal information is confidential. It is only shared with the permission of the individual concerned, or unless the disclosure of confidential personal information is necessary in order to protect a student. In all circumstances, information must be confined to those people directly involved in the professional network of each individual student and on a strict "need to know" basis.
- Professionals should be aware of the effects of outside intervention upon students, upon family life and the impact and implications of what they say and do.
- Explanations by professionals to students, their families and other carers should be plainly stated and jargon-free. Unavoidable technical and professional terminology should be explained in simple terms.
- Sound professional practice is based upon positive inter-agency collaboration, evidence-based research and effective supervision and evaluation.
- Early intervention in providing support services is an important principle of practice in inter-agency arrangements for safeguarding the welfare of students.
- If the issue is with an international student we will contact the CLO (Community Liaison Officer) or the appropriate person, at the relevant embassy.

3. When is it a Student Safeguarding Matter?

If any member of staff has significant concerns about a student, they should make them known to the DSL.

These concerns may include:

Physical abuse: (See Appendix I)

May involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating, or otherwise causing physical harm to a student. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces illness in a student.

Emotional abuse: (See Appendix I)

The persistent emotional maltreatment of a student such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the student's emotional development.

Bullying: (See Students' Code of Conduct)

Bullying cannot be excused as 'banter' or as part of 'growing up'. If an instance of bullying involves significant harm or the threat of significant harm, it is a Child Protection/Student Safeguarding issue.

Neglect: (See Appendix I)

This is the persistent failure to meet a student's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the student's health or development.

Sexual abuse (See Appendix I)

This Involves forcing or enticing a student or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the student is aware of what is happening. Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other students.

4. Referral guidelines*Students in Need

Referral should be considered when a student shows evidence that her/his health, development or achievement may be adversely affected (see Signs and Symptoms in Appendix I). Examples are:

- Age appropriate progress is not being made and the causes are unclear.
- He/she is unlikely to achieve or maintain, or to have opportunity to achieve or maintain a reasonable standard of health or development, without the provision of services by a local authority or outside agency.
- His/her health or development is likely to be impaired, or further impaired without the provision of such services.

If a student appears to be in need, staff must discuss the issues with a member of the safeguarding team and complete an internal 'Student Protection' referral form and give this to the DSL. This form gives evidence, if required, should a student require protection or further intervention with outside agencies (see Appendix III)

Students Requiring Protection

It should be considered a safeguarding matter if:

- A student is at risk or suffering significant harm.
- A student is suffering the effects of significant harm.
- Serious health problems are evident.

If this is a safeguarding matter, this must be discussed with a member of the Student Protection Staff and will need to be referred to the Designated Safeguarding Lead. An appropriate outside agency may then be contacted by the school as soon as possible.

It is the 'significant harm' threshold that justifies statutory intervention into family life, in this case, immediate referral to an appropriate agency should be made. A professional making a student protection referral must therefore provide information that clearly outlines that a student is suffering or likely to suffer significant harm.

It is not possible to rely on one absolute criterion when judging what constitutes significant harm. Consideration of the severity of ill treatment may include the extent of the harm suffered, the context within which it occurred and its duration.

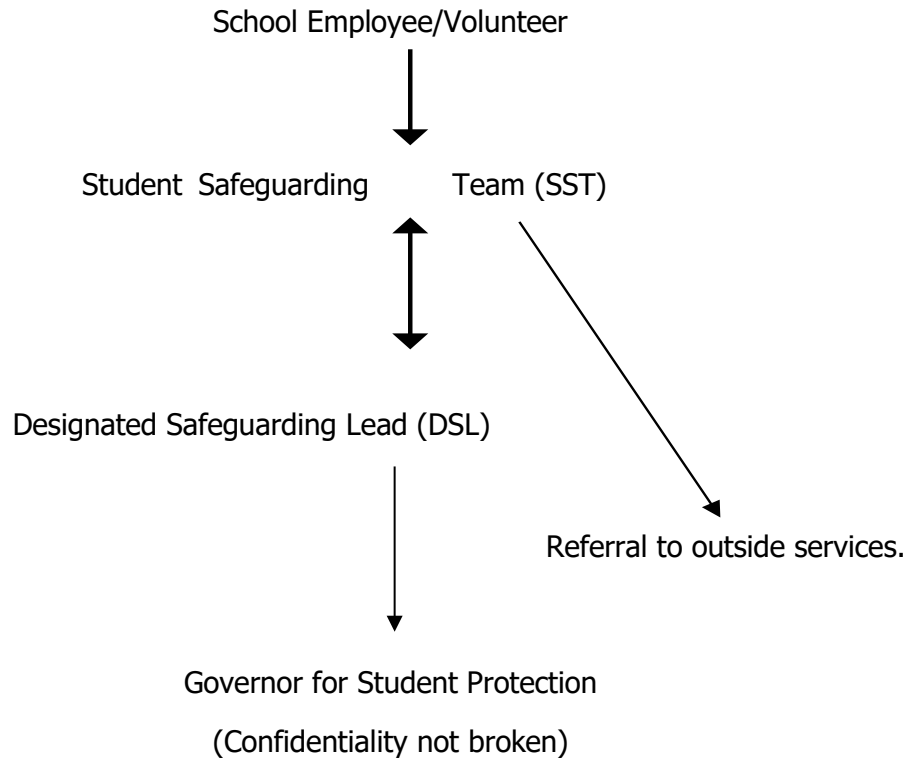

Significant harm may also arise from a combination of significant events that are both acute and long standing and which may impair the student's physical, psychological and social development.

In order to both understand and establish significant harm, it is necessary to consider the family context, within their wider social and cultural environment. It is also necessary to consider any special needs, e.g. medical condition (including FGM), communication difficulties or disability that may affect the student's development and care within the family. The nature of harm, in terms of ill treatment or failure to provide adequate care, also needs consideration; alongside the impact on the student's health and development and the adequacy of care provided.

5. Making referrals

Consultation should take place with the School's DSL. A written record of concerns should be made using the school's internal recording form (See Appendix III). A referral can be made without delay to the relevant outside agency. See the procedure advice in Appendix II.

Reporting Students in Crisis – Flow Diagram

6. Confidentiality

Confidentiality needs to be understood by all those working with students, particularly in the context of student protection.

You can never guarantee confidentiality to a student as some kinds of information may need to be shared with others. A suggested form of words that may help when talking to students is as follows:

"I will keep our conversation confidential and agree with you what information I can share, unless you tell me something that will affect your personal safety or that is illegal, but I will tell you if I am going to pass information on and who to."

Professionals can only work together to safeguard students if there is an exchange of relevant information between them. However, any disclosure of personal information to others, including Child Welfare (Social Service Departments), must always have regard to both common and statute law in our country.

Wherever possible, consent should be obtained before sharing personal information with third parties. In some circumstances this may not be possible.

If a student reports abuse from another student or students, staff must follow the same procedures in this section.

Listening to and talking with students

If a student chooses to disclose, you MUST:

- Report the incident to the SST within 24 hours;
- Be accessible and receptive;
- Listen carefully and uncritically at the student's pace;
- Take what is said seriously;
- Reassure the student that they are right to speak up;
- Tell the student that you must pass this information on;
- Make a careful record of what was said verbatim, as far as possible and as soon as possible
- Avoid asking the student leading questions
- Use open questions "tell me, explain to me, describe to me, show me" [TEDS]

You must NEVER:

- Take photographs or examine an injury or ask them to show or indicate to you any injury
- Investigate or probe aiming to prove or disprove possible abuse;
- Make promises to students about confidentiality or keeping 'secrets';
- Assume that someone else will take the necessary action;
- Jump to conclusions or react with shock, anger or horror;
- Speculate or accuse anybody;
- Confront another person (adult or student) allegedly involved;
- Offer opinions about what is being said or about the persons allegedly involved;
- Forget to record what you have been told;
- Fail to pass the information on to the correct person;
- Ask a student to sign a written copy of the disclosure.

For students with communication difficulties or who use alternative/augmented communication systems, you may need to take extra care to ensure that signs of abuse and neglect are identified and interpreted correctly, but concerns should be reported in exactly the same manner as for other students.

7. Record keeping

Well maintained records are essential in situations where it is suspected or believed that a student may be at risk from harm. Records should:

- State who was present, time, date and place and the length of time spent with the student;
- Use the student's words wherever possible;
- Be factual/state exactly what was said;
- State what action was taken at the time or any inaction (what you witnessed but did not act upon)
- Differentiate clearly between fact, opinion, interpretation, observation and/or allegation;
- Be written in ink and signed by the recorder;

The Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) will review the handling, efficiency of dealing with, and recording of all student protection related matters annually.

The Board of Governors will ensure that they comply with their duties and ensure that the policies, procedures and training in the school are effective and comply with local law. A member of the Board is nominated to liaise with agencies on issues of child protection and in the event of allegations of abuse against the Head Teacher or the Principal.

If a member of staff has been convicted of abuse by a court in our country, the school may report this to the authorities in Nigeria that are charged with ensuring that unsuitable individuals do not come into contact with students. If a member of staff is dismissed for reasons of suspected abuse the School will pass the evidence to the local authorities for their action.

The school will store CP/SP case files in a 'double locked' secure place.

Records may be kept until the individual has reached 25 years of age.

8. Protecting yourself against allegations of abuse

You must keep your personal contact with students under review and minimise the risk of any situation arising in which misunderstandings can occur. The following sensible precautions should be taken when working alone with individual or small groups of students:

- Work in a room where there is a glass panel in the door or, preferably, leave the door open
- Make sure that other adults visit the room occasionally.
- Do not give out personal mobile phone numbers or private e-mail/social network addresses
- Do not give students lifts in your car. If a student needs to be taken somewhere, the school will arrange transport.
- Do not arrange to meet students outside of school hours or outside arranged school events
- Do not chat or 'friend' school students on social websites e.g Facebook or Twitter

- Do not change in the same rooms as students for Physical Education or swimming.

Any use of physical restraint against students must be reasonable in the circumstances and must always be documented. If it is necessary to use physical restraint to prevent a student from injury to themselves or others, parents must be informed. Students will not be punished by any form of hitting, slapping, shaking or other degrading treatment.

9. Allegations of abuse against a professional

Students can be the victims of abuse by those who work with them in any setting. All allegations of abuse of students carried out by any staff member or volunteer will be taken seriously.

If an allegation is received by the Principal, s/he needs to consider whether the professional has:

- Behaved in a way that has harmed a student, or may have harmed a student;
- Possibly committed a criminal offence against or related to a student;
- Behaved towards a student or students in a way that indicates s/he is unsuitable to work with students

Allegations of abuse made against staff, whether historical or contemporary, should be dealt with by the Principal. (If the allegation is against the Principal then it should be dealt with by the Governor for Safeguarding Students).

The initial conversation will attempt to establish the validity of any allegation and if a referral is required. If this is the case a strategic meeting will be called and the Governor for Safeguarding should attend. The decision of the strategic meeting could be:

- A Police investigation if there is a criminal element to the allegation
- An investigation completed by the school
- The member of staff may (without prejudice to financial aid and ethical standing) be asked to remain away from school for the duration of the investigation.
- In all circumstances the School will seek appropriate advice from legal advisors.

The fact that a member of staff offers to resign will not prevent the allegation procedure from reaching a conclusion.

10. Recruitment, Supervision and Training for Staff

When recruiting new members of staff, the school follows the guidance given in the "Keeping children safe in education September 2018" guidelines and British Spring College procedures for recruitment – Safer Recruitment Policy.

The following checks are undertaken:

- Verification of employment history through CVs and standardised application forms
- ICPC checks (International Child Protection Certificate) are undertaken
- All references are taken up and qualifications are verified with issuing institutions

Newly appointed staff will be required to complete the 'Child Protection Awareness in Education' programme (unless they already have an up-to-date Level 1 Child Protection Certificate as a minimum certification) and to read the School's Student Safeguarding Policy as part of their induction programme. All staff are required to read the policy annually and to have an up-to-date certification in Child Protection, which is recorded on staff records.

The Designated Safeguarding Team members and the Senior Management Team (SMT) will receive level 2 training every two years.

DSL will receive Advanced Level 3 training every two years.

The School will extend level 2 training to other members of staff as appropriate. In addition, the school will run basic safety awareness sessions for staff who join the school throughout the year on a termly basis.

11. E-Safety

The growth of different electronic media in everyday life and an ever-developing variety of devices including PC's, laptops, tablets, mobile phones and webcams place an additional risk on our students. Internet chat rooms, discussion forums or social networks can all be used as a means of contacting students and young people with a view to grooming them for inappropriate or abusive relationships. The anonymity of the internet allows adults, often pretending to be students, to have conversations with students and in some cases arrange to meet them.

Access to abusive images is not a 'victimless' act as it has already involved the abuse of children. The internet has become a significant tool in the distribution of indecent photographs of children and should be a concern to all those working with children at this school.

Students can engage in or be a target of bullying using a range of methods including text and instant messaging to reach their target. Mobile phones are also used to capture violent assaults of other students for circulation (e.g. happy slapping). The best protection is to make students aware of the dangers through curriculum teaching.

Protection is Prevention

- Software is in place to minimise access and to identify any person accessing inappropriate sites or information using the school network.
- Students are encouraged to discuss openly their use of technology and anything that makes them feel uncomfortable. (If this results in student protection concerns the schools designated student protection officer should be informed immediately).
- Students should not give out their personal details, phone numbers, schools, home address or computer passwords.
- Students must adhere to the school policy on internet use, mobile phones and mobile technology.

The police will be informed if there is any criminal element or misuse of the internet, telephones or any other form of electronic media.

12. Resources

Safeguarding is important to all members of staff. The Senior Management Team (SMT) ensures that sufficient resources are made available to enable the necessary tasks to be carried out properly including attending meetings, collating and writing assessment reports, and staff training.

Safeguarding awareness will be addressed through the curriculum as appropriate to ensure all students understand what is meant by safeguarding and how they can be safe.

13. Review

An annual review of this policy is undertaken by the Senior Management Team (SMT), and ratified by the Board of Governors and relevant Governor for Safeguarding. If the policy needs to be amended beforehand, the SST, in consultation with the SMT, has responsibility for immediate implementation.

14. Related Policies

The following policies are references in the Student Safeguarding Policy and are to be read in conjunction with it:

IT E-Safety Policy, Acceptable use of Computers Policy, IT Technical Security Policy, Safer Recruitment Policy, Anti-Bullying Policy.

The Student Safeguarding Policy is an overreaching policy which is central to the safety of all students, staff, parents and visitors to the School. In the case of apparent conflict with other policies in the School, it takes precedence according to the regulations of the legal code.

Appendix I: DEFINITIONS

The following definitions are taken from UK Government advice for practitioners:

'What to do if you are worried a child is being abused' March 2015

Abuse and neglect:

Abuse and neglect are forms of maltreatment of a student. Somebody may abuse or neglect a student by inflicting harm, or by failing to act to prevent harm. Students may be abused in a family or in an institutional or community setting; by those known to them or, more rarely, by a stranger. They may be abused by an adult or adults or another student or students.

It can occur where parents/guardians fail to meet the basic physical and/or psychological needs likely to result in the serious impairment of the student's health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of material substance abuse. Once a student is born, neglect may involve a parent or carer failing to:

- Provide adequate food
- Provide adequate Clothing or shelter
- Protect a student from physical and emotional harm or danger
- Ensure adequate supervision
- Ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment
- It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a student's basic emotional needs.

Physical abuse

Physical abuse may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating, or otherwise causing physical harm to a student. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a student. Physical injury is where there is reasonable suspicion that the injury was inflicted or knowingly not prevented. Indicators that a student at risk of Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) or has already suffered FGM should also be taken heed of.

Signs or symptoms which may indicate physical abuse:

- Bruising, Inconsistent account of how bruising or injuries occurred
- Bald patches
- Burns or scalds
- Fear of going home or parents being contacted
- Fear of medical help
- Inexplicable fear of adults or over-compliance
- Violence or aggression towards others including bullying

Emotional abuse

Emotional abuse is the persistent emotional maltreatment of a student such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the student's emotional development. It may involve conveying to the student that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of another person. It may include not giving the student the opportunities to express their views or deliberately silencing them or 'making fun' of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on the student. These may include interactions that are beyond the student's developmental capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the student participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying (including cyberbullying) causing the student frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of the student. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a student, though it may occur alone.

Aspects of psychological and emotional abuse include:

- Hostile rejecting/degrading (e.g. taunts)
- Terrorising (e.g. threats or acts that induce fear)
- Actively isolating (e.g. locking a student in a room for extended periods of time)
- Exploiting/corrupting (e.g. teaching a student to steal)
- Denying emotional responsiveness (e.g. denying affection and expressions of love)

Signs or symptoms which may indicate psychological abuse:

- Rocking, banging head, regression
- Self-mutilation, drug or solvent abuse
- Fear of parents being contacted
- Running away, compulsive stealing
- Masturbation
- Eating disorders
- Soiling, smearing faeces, enuresis
- Sudden speech disorders, selective mutism
- Over-reaction to mistakes, continual self-deprecation
- Delayed physical/mental/emotional development

A crisis can be the result of one incident or the progression and climax of years of torment and hiding.

Sexual abuse

Sexual abuse involves forcing or enticing a student to take part in sexual activities, including prostitution, whether or not the student is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including penetrative (e.g. rape, buggery or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts (masturbation, kissing, rubbing and touching the outside of clothing). They may include non-contact activities, such as involving the student in looking at, or in the production of, pornographic material or watching sexual activities, or encouraging a student to behave in sexually inappropriate ways. Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other students or young people.

It may involve:

- Sexual grooming or exploitation
- Inappropriate exposure to sexual acts or materials
- Passive use of students and young persons as sexual stimuli for adults;
- The student and young person may be subjected to exhibitionist activities, voyeurism or be coerced into posing for pornographic materials
- Inappropriate sexual contact or acts between older individuals and the student/young person
- Intercourse as a result of rape, assault and coercion

Signs or symptoms which may indicate sexual abuse:

*Please note-most frequently there are no signs of this type of abuse

- Sexually explicit play or behaviour or age inappropriate behaviour
- Anal or vaginal discharge, soreness or scratching
- Persistent complaints of stomach disorders or pains
- Eating disorders
- Attention-seeking behaviour including sexual harassment or molestation
- Regressive behaviour
- Enuresis, soiling
- Frequent or open masturbation, touching others inappropriately
- Reluctance to undress for PE or swimming
- Bruises, scratches in genital area
- Lack of trust of a familiar or particular adult
- Unusually compliant

The concept of significant harm

Some students are in need because they are suffering or likely to suffer significant harm. There are no absolute criteria on which to rely when judging what constitutes significant harm. Consideration of the severity of ill-treatment may include the degree and the extent of physical harm, the duration and frequency of abuse and neglect, the extent of premeditation, and the presence or degree of threat, coercion, sadism, and bizarre or unusual elements. Each of these elements has been associated with more severe effects on the student, and/or relatively greater difficulty in helping the student overcome the adverse impact of the maltreatment. Sometimes, a single traumatic event may constitute significant harm, e.g. a violent assault, suffocation or poisoning. More often, significant harm is a compilation of significant events, both acute and longstanding, which interrupt, change or damage the student's physical and psychological development. Some students live in family and social circumstances where their health and development may be neglected. For them, it is the corrosiveness of long-term emotional, physical or sexual abuse that causes impairment to the extent of constituting significant harm. In each case, it is necessary to consider any maltreatment alongside the family's strengths and supports.

Procedure for Student Protection

- 1. The 'paper trail' is most important, as evidence is needed to take action. For the school, this means that we require evidence in order to take any cases forward to the police and courts.
- 2. Any concerns must not be discussed generally. If you have a concern (remember, your instinct and the 'warning bell'), please speak to a member of the SST team or fill in a green form privately.
- 3. Respecting the student's rights to confidentiality, if there is an incident involving a student, the only people that need to know are people directly involved with the student in that situation. Other people who may need to know something as a consequence to the situation, only need to know that there has been a situation, they do not need to know the reason why.
- 4. If filling in a green form, do not discuss (before or after completion) it or fill this out in an area where other people can witness this. Worst case scenario – the person witnessing you filling in this form could be the perpetrator and you are letting them know your suspicions are aroused.
- 5. Please remember that it should only be facts on the form, opinions are not evidence and are not admissible in a court. Any notes or further evidence that you have should be attached to the form.
- 6. Include on the form any action taken at the time and any inaction also (i.e. what you witnessed but did not act upon)
- 7. When a green form has been completed, please hand this directly to a SPS within 24 hours. Any follow up to the form will be carried out by the SPS team as necessary and your role in the matter is complete. Further evidence or concerns need to be filled in on another form. However, without the forms, we cannot take action. It is far better to have a stack of forms as evidence than nothing at all.

- 8. Please remember that any queries or information being sent about a student via email should be marked 'CONFIDENTIAL'. If our practice is seen not to be doing this, we are breaching human rights.

- 9. The Safeguarding team will take responsibility for contacting outside agencies or the authorities. You must not contact them directly on student protection matters.
